Fast professional installation

Our installation teams are highly experienced. They work quickly and efficiently, making sure the space is left clean and tidy before they leave. Armed with years of knowledge and a passion for best practice, they will be on hand to answer any questions you may have.

Underfloor heating

We use high-quality Emmeti underfloor heating components which we buy at negotiated trade prices. Emmeti fittings are drilled and tapped rather than cast and their manifolds are chrome plated for durability, which makes them superior to 'off the shelf' systems.

Site surveys

We can optimise your finished floor and heating system by investigating the construction depth of the floor which, in turn, allows us to optimise the amount of screed and insulation we install. Site surveys are especially useful if you are renovating older buildings.

Insulation, membranes & perimeters

We don't cut corners, the insulation and damp proof membranes we use are of the highest quality and we insist on installing a perimeter expansion strip – a best practice step which many contractors fail to meet.

Design services

Our screed floor and underfloor heating design services make sure your installation is laid perfectly first time. We will identify your insulation requirements and correct location for manifolds and thermostats, product quantities and any areas which do not require heating, such as under kitchen cupboards.

Downloadable guides

We have created a number of helpful guides to support you during the preparation, installation, drying and maintenance of your new underfloor heating system and screed floor. Search 'Screed It' to find out more.

Screeds

Screed It has a wide portfolio of screed products to suit both residential properties and commercial environments. From quick drying mix designs and thin section screeds, to products designed for high rise buildings and those with wooden floors. We install both liquid screed and traditional sand and cement floors, including overlays.
